Headline: Community Foundation Director Elected to State Committee

Putnam County Community Foundation executive director Elaine Peck has been elected to represent the West – Central Region of community foundations on the Indiana Community Foundation Leadership Committee. The 16 foundation directors serving on the committee have been elected by their peers to provide direction and leadership to over 90 community foundations in Indiana.

Peck has served as executive director of the Putnam County Community Foundation since 2002. She will serve a two-year term with the state group.

Growth of Indiana’s community foundations is a national success story.
