

The philanthropist I know personally is Mary Mountz. I think that she shows humanitarianism by giving less fortunate people essential supplies every month. The charity that she came up with and organized herself is called the non-food pantry.

Mary Mountz spends a lot of time and money organizing this pantry. She has to buy all the supplies such as paper products, dish soap, and laundry detergent, using the money fund that the Putnam County Foundation contributes to.

I find her work at the non-food pantry very generous because she gives up a lot to be able to help others in need. She is constantly at work trying to improve and widen our supply of items that people can take and use. Mary is kind and courteous to all our customers all the time and treats them exceptionally.

Mary Mountz is at church every week looking for donations to the pantry and helping organize the rooms full of supplies given by Greencastle citizens. Each month, we hand out the bags to the poverty-stricken people. The people come to us for all kinds of non-food products and we give them what they need the most. Mary never turns down anyone and people respect and thank her for all she does for the community.

I find Mary to be a philanthropist because she helps others by giving up her time and money to be kind and generous. She has been alive a long time and has learned that the most important things in life are benevolence, integrity, and generosity. She has learned that we should be grateful for what we have and give to others. Mary does all of this just to help our community and our citizens have better lives. She gets nothing from it besides the wonderful feeling in her heart that she is doing something special and considerate for our community.

Mary works extremely hard to keep the non-food pantry going but cannot do it all by herself. She needs plenty of volunteers, money, and donations from the people. This is how I got to know Mary very well. I was appointed to help with the non-food pantry. When I started working at the non-food pantry project, I got to know her and realized that she was an amazing, kindhearted person who definitely showed tenacity and participated in philanthropy.

The Putnam County Foundation also helps a lot with the non-food pantry. The first time I heard of the Putnam County Foundation was during my work for the non-food pantry. They just recently gave us a large sum of money to help us purchase supplies for the next distribution of items to the needy citizens.

In conclusion, I think that Mary Mountz is a philanthropist because she came up with and organized a charity at our church called the non-food pantry. She is an amazing person who shows kindness and respect to everyone. We all appreciate her work for the community.
